

American Women Don't Deserve the Criticism they Get

occasionally about deteriorating in their home-making instincts. The trouble is they are not given half a chance. Can't expect them to take the same interest in a rented house or apartment that their mothers took in the home they knew was their own, can you? Just think this over carefully. We know what we're talking about, because invariably when we sell a house bill it's the wife that has the most to say about it, and usually it's through her efforts the start is made. And let us tell you she has pretty good ideas about what she wants, too—goes a lot on appearance, as well as quality—on an attractive front door—wants good, natural figured finish, hardwood floors, etc. She's particular, but we've the stock that makes 'em happy, and when you're ready to build we want to talk you.

WEDDING BELLS

Williams-Caldwell.

The interest which her friends have been taking lately in the affairs of Miss Edna Williams culminated Tuesday evening at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. I. H. Holmes, when she was married to Mr. Edward G. Caldwell.

Never was a dwelling more tastefully and appropriately decorated for the crowning event in a maiden's life. The credit for this must be largely given to Miss Jane Albright, whose taste and skill were quickened by a sincere affection for the bride. Yellow and white were the prevailing colors. A striking feature was the bridal pathway reaching through the entire extent of the house. This was made by two lines of clematis suspended at a height of six feet and terminating in a beautiful bower of evergreen. The many beautiful presents of silver, cut glass and china added their part to the general attractiveness of the scene. But the most beautiful sight of the evening was the forty young men and women, schoolmates and friends of the bride, and herself, the fairest of them all.

As the hour approached for the ceremony Mrs. Paul Pope gratified the guests with a vocal solo, Miss Gertrude Blackledge took her place at the piano, and, to the strains of the wedding march, the bride and groom proceeded along the bridal pathway to the bower, where Rev. Tompkins, in his happiest manner, pronounced them man and wife.

A dainty and appetizing luncheon followed, and a spirit of joyous exhilaration filled the evening hours with mirth and pleasure. At a late hour the guests accompanied the newly married pair to the pleasant home provided by the bridegroom, and wished them joy and prosperity in the future that lay before them.

Mr. Caldwell is a young lawyer who has been located in this city during the past two years. He is a graduate from the Kansas City law school, has been admitted to the bar in Missouri and Nebraska, and is entitled to practice in all the courts of this country. He is a young man of fine ability, of scholarly attainments, of strong religious convictions and conscientious in conduct. He has a promising future, and with his charming wife will take a high and secure position in the social and business life of the city.

The bride was born and educated in this city and has still farther endeared herself to the people of this community by teaching in our public schools.

The Chief's best wishes go with the newly wedded couple—and in this case wishes are almost predictions.

Williams-Hedge.

Orrin Hedge, son of Mrs. Melissa Hedge, was married in Hastings, Tuesday, to Miss Florence Williams of Juniata, Neb. Miss Laura Hedge and brother Aaron of this city attended the wedding. Mr. and Mrs. Hedge came to Red Cloud Wednesday for a short visit with relatives before going to their future home on one of the Harvey farms, north of Inavale. The bride is a stranger to Red Cloud, but everybody knows and likes Orrin, and all will join the Chief in extending best wishes for their future welfare.

Committee Meetings

There will be a meeting of the People's Independent central committee of Webster county, September 16th, at the court house in the city of Red Cloud at 2 p. m.

A Great Advantage to Working Men

J. A. Maple, 125 S. 7th St., Steubenville, O., says: "For years I suffered from weak kidneys and a severe bladder trouble. I learned of Foley Kidney Pills and their wonderful cures so I began taking them and sure enough I had as good results as any I heard about. My backache left me and to one of my business, expressman, that alone is a great advantage. My kidneys acted free and normal, and that saved me a lot of misery. It is now a pleasure to work where it used to be a misery. Foley Kidney Pills have cured me and have my highest praise." For sale at Dr. Cook's drug store.
